Prince George Council of Seniors

1330 5th Avenue Prince George, B.C. V2L 2K5

250-564-5888

www.pgcoss.ca

The Prince George Housing Resource Guide was developed by the Prince George Council of Seniors (PGCOS) as a quick reference of housing providers including government, non-profit organizations, and market housing agencies. PGCOS is not a housing provider or able to provide placement but can provide information to help you find appropriate housing.

This guide focuses on housing for seniors age 55+. It contains information on how to apply for a range of housing options in Prince George. It is divided into six sections based on different type of housing locally available and includes:

- B.C. Housing
- Northern Health Authority
- Private Senior Residences and Assisted Living Homes
- Aboriginal Housing Society of Prince George and the Prince George of Native Friendship Centre
- Market Rental Housing
- Websites

Shelter Aid for Elderly Renters (SAFER)

The Shelter Aid for Elderly Renters (SAFER) program helps make rent affordable for older adults with low to moderate incomes. SAFER provides monthly assistance to subsidize rents for eligible B.C. residents aged 60 or older, whose rent is 30% or more of their income and their gross monthly income does not exceed the program income ceiling. For more information call B.C. Housing at 1-800-257-7756. Applications on available online at www.bchousing.org/SAFER, at the B.C. Housing office #200, 299 Victoria Street, Prince George, BC V2L 5B8

B.C. Housing

B.C. Housing offers subsidized housing for people who permanently reside in B.C. Rents are calculated on income (30% of household total gross income), are subject to minimum and maximum rates and based on the number of household members.

Eligibility for housing:

- Senior – single person aged 55 or older or couple where at least one person is 55 or older.
- People with a disability – people who can live independently and are in receipt of a disability pension or considered disabled for income tax purposes.
- Gross income must be below certain income limits (Northern B.C. $47,000)

How to access: Apply to BC Housing registry.

To apply for subsidized housing, apply to B.C. Housing Registry or to the non-profit operating the facility. Application to B.C. Housing Registry may be made:

- Online at bchousing.org
- Paper application by:
 - Downloading and printing online application at bchousing.org
 - Visit BC housing office: #200, 299 Victoria Street, Prince George, BC V2L 5B8
 - Book an appointment at the Prince George Council of Seniors.
 - Calling BC Housing toll-free at 1-800-257-7756 to have a form mailed to you.

Market Rental Housing

Market rental properties are privately owned by an individual or company and do not receive rental subsidies. Rental housing can refer to apartments, condos, duplexes, townhouses, single detached houses and secondary suites in houses with some hotels and motels offering to rent rooms at a weekly or monthly rates.

As a tenant, it is important to know your rights and responsibilities as outlined in the Residential Tenancy Act. It sets out the protections for tenants and landlords and applies to most rental housing such as apartments, houses (including secondary suites), rental strata and co-op units. There are some tenancies not under the Residential Tenancy Act such as a tenant renting a bedroom to a roommate. To learn more about renting, your rights and responsibilities and tenant/landlord dispute resolution (Renting It Right has a free online course at rentingitright.ca). The Tenant Resource and Advisory Centre (TRAC) is a non-profit organization that provides free legal, representation and advocacy on residential tenancy matters. Their website, www.tenants.bc.ca has resources and information or they may be contacted at 1-800-665-1185.

Many rental management companies in Prince George have websites with listings of available units. As availability is constantly changing, it is best to contact the companies by phone or view their websites.

Most rental management companies will require you to complete an application. Information that is commonly requested is:

- Letter of employment with employer contact or two recent pay stubs or proof of pensions.
- Copy of valid photo identification.
- Verifiable references (at least two recent landlords who can be contacted).
